With Epigrams.Beveridge Supports Opposite.
Pinchotis Rampant.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Sept. 7.—With the dawning presidential and ex-presidential luminaries shedding their powerful rays, the fight of the National Conservation Congress became visible to-day.

The two sessions today addressed by James S. Hill, Senator Beveridge and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson were well attended and enthusiastic.

Mr. Hill let fall showers of epigrams at the expense of the national government, and was applauded.

Senator Beveridge waxed eloquent to give a different purpose, but the crowd roared at his epigrams.

Gifford Pinchot, who was almost a sight of "firing the periscope" of presidential presence, suddenly found himself in the limelight, and received an ovation almost hysterical. He sprang to his feet, and was still in his voice when he said a few words of thanks.

Another feature of the day, but of which the spectators knew little or nothing, was the closing of the Edward C. Hines incident.

HINES DEFIANT.

Mr. Hines defied the Illinois delegation, which had protested against his being chairman of the Credentials Committee on the ground that public gossip had connected him too closely with the alleged purchase of Senator LeCombe's seat in the Senate.

Mr. Hines told his fellow-Chicagoans that he had been appointed chairman and that since he had chosen to play "policy politics" he would fight them all along the line.

N. B. Baker, president of the Congress, understood that Mr. Hines did not desire to serve, had appointed Prof. G. E. Condra of the University of Nebraska. Prof. Condra suggested, however, that Mr. Hines should report on the number of delegates present, and then ask that the committee be discharged. This was done and the incident closed.

Senator Beveridge spoke during the forenoon session, Mr. Hill and Secretary Wilson in the afternoon.

It was the Senator from Indiana who stirred the crowd to the big ovation for Mr. Pinchot.

The applause burst at the mere mention of the former forester's name. It started as a good honest round of applause.

WOMAN STARTS IT.

Mrs. Elizabeth G. Crans of New York, who is attending the Congress with her husband, Mrs. La Follette, wife of the Wisconsin Senator, started the cheering.

She said she was so excited that she scarcely realized that there was any one in the hall but herself. Her example was all that it took to lead.

When he had concluded, cries for Pinchot came from every part of the house. He was finally dragged forward and in a shaky voice said:

There are but few moments in a man's life when he is so much in the center of the world as you have done. I have fought many years for conservation and conservation has won. I thank you.

Mr. Hill spoke with vigor of gesture and voice. He was finally dragged forward and in a shaky voice said:

The need of the hour is to conserve conservation.

The time is ripe to distinguish between real and fanciful conservation. The national machine is too big and too distant, slow, cumbersome and costly.

Irrigation would have been more cheaply done if turned over to private enterprise or committed to the several states.

MORE EPIGRAMS.

Coal mining must be carried on upon a large scale to be commercially possible.

While we lament the exhaustion of our coal supply, we maintain a tariff that compels us to draw upon it continuously.

The worst scandals of State land misappropriation are insignificant when compared with the record of the nation.

Impending misfortune, only the conservation of a neglected soil and all the interests connected with it, can avert it.

Spendthrift man and spendthrift nation must face at last the same law and the same penalty.

A tariff on any raw material forbids the conservation of similar natural resources here.

Whoever attempts to make conservation the bone of a personal controversy or the heart of burden to carry any faction into or popularity, it is its worst enemy.

TAKE ISSUE.

Henry Wallace of Des Moines, who followed Mr. Hill, took issue with most of the Senator's statements. He referred to his doing "my old friend, Hill," and made several digs at him, as "emphatic builder," and the latter chuckled heartily.

If our government is to continue as it has been for some years past—a government by great corporations for the benefit of great corporations, it matters little whether our resources are managed by Congress or by the several States.

In either case, they will be stolen and used to oppress our children and our children's children. But, if in time to come it is really to be a government for the people, then the representatives of the people in Congress are the proper body to prescribe the method by which our resources are to be conserved and utilized in the future.

To say that this cannot be done as the nations of Europe do it, as Canada does it, and as Australia does it, is to say that republicanism is a failure. Every people that it can be done is infidelity to democracy or government by the people as directed from an oligarchy of plutocrats.

The method by which our resources are to be conserved and utilized in the future.

Other speakers today were W. W. Finley, president of the Southern Railway Company; Frank R. MacVey, president of the University of North Dakota; John B. White of Kansas City; Dr. Edward B. Crane, president of Tulane University, New Orleans; D. A. Lathrop of the Kansas City Star, and Mrs. Emma Crocker of Massachusetts.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 7.—The German had their day with President Roosevelt today. Beginning the day with a visit to Milwaukee's Socialist Mayor, Emil Seidel, who is a German, Col. Roosevelt put in the scheduled hours of his visit here by roaming about the city at will, making his own programme as he went.

He inspected the city's trade schools, attended two luncheons and a dinner, took an automobile ride to White Fish Bay, a summer resort on the lake shore, and addressed two huge audiences tonight.

Late in the evening he went to his room, where he is to spend the night, and he is to speak to the Milwaukee Press Club, which he is to visit later in the day.

The Milwaukee Press Club, which he is to visit later in the day, is a club of the city's first and last edition of the "Big Stick," a newspaper devoted exclusively to Col. Roosevelt's affairs. In it there was a letter by Mayor Seidel, explaining why he would not serve as a member of the committee to welcome Col. Roosevelt.

The committee had written about socialism was unkind, and said the colonel could not expect him to welcome him.

Before he had his luncheon, Col. Roosevelt issued a reply, telling the people he would prefer to have them read what he had written, rather than what the Mayor said about what he had written.

The colonel said the fact that the city administration was not represented in the official ceremonies of the day did not trouble him at all.

The original programme for the day included six speeches and visits to a dozen places. Col. Roosevelt looked it over as soon as he arrived, and he said he would possibly get it all done in "one day."

REVIVES PROGRAMME.

He cast the programme aside and made one out for himself. He wanted to visit the trade schools and start-up the youth of Milwaukee, where the youth of Milwaukee are taught, at all occupations, chiefly mechanics, the colonel spent nearly an hour in questioning the instructors and students about their work.

Then the colonel went to the West side, to the girls' school. He saw the girls at work there, learning to sew and knit.

The colonel was led to the kitchen and, as soon as he arrived there, he asked if he might have some of the soup which had been prepared for the girls' lunch. He ate his soup while the crowd looked on, and he said he had never tasted better.

Then Col. Roosevelt said he wanted to go to the Deutscher Club. As he mounted the steps of the clubhouse, he was met by a crowd of Germans, who were cheering and waving.

"Hoch Soli er Leben" several times, they stopped to talk.

"I wish I could point as your invited guest," said the colonel. "I found out last night that no arrangements had been made for a visit to the Deutscher Club, and I said I was coming there, anyway. When I was in Berlin I told the Emperor that I should visit this club again in the near future, and that I would bring his regards."

BOLLINGER.

son, Sutherland, and Representatives McCall and Madison, Republicans; and Senators Purcell, Fletcher, and Representatives James and Graham, Democrats.

OTHERS DUE TODAY.

Word was received that Representative Denby, Republican, would be here tomorrow; that Representative Olmstead, Republican, who is in Milwaukee, would arrive Friday, and that Senator Root, Republican, of New York, might also be here Friday or Saturday. Senator Frank P. Flint, Republican, of California, is abroad and is not expected for some time.

The Democratic members were determined that some action be taken at today's session, and immediately after the meeting was called to order, Senator Fletcher introduced a resolution calling Bollinger "unfit for the very responsible position he holds," and stated that "the public good demands his removal from office."

The substitute by Mr. Madison, which was adopted, followed.

Mr. Madison made the statement tonight that a majority of the committee, if it saw fit, reverse the day's action. He said:

"The whole matter can be summed up in a few words. When the committee met and was called to order, Senator Fletcher offered his resolution. I immediately offered mine as a substitute for it. Objection was made to the consideration of the resolution, owing to the absence of members of the committee."

PRECIPITATED DISCUSSION.

This precipitated a discussion as to whether a report was going to be made at this time, and if so whether it would be published. I made a motion to the effect that it was the sense of the committee that the reports were made should be made public.

"Mr. James moved to amend to the effect that it was the sense of the committee that a report should be made to the effect that the committee at Minneapolis, I accepted that amendment. On a roll call, Senators Nelson and Sutherland, and Mr. McCall voted 'present,' thus not making any record of their opposition to the resolution."

They did, however, make statements to the committee that satisfied me that Senator Nelson was in favor of making a report at this time, and that Senator Sutherland and Mr. McCall were in favor of making public any report made at this time, and I joined with them in voting for a recess until Friday.

This did not carry, the vote standing 4 to 4. In regular order, then, a vote was taken on my resolution which was adopted as a substitute for the resolution offered by Senator Fletcher.

Before the vote was taken, Senator Sutherland and Mr. McCall withdrew. Of course, final action has not been taken, no report has been adopted and a majority can, of course, if it sees fit, reverse the day's action."

TRICKERY EXPOSED.

One of the leading Republican Senators on the committee said:

"When the committee met this morning there were but eight of the twelve members present. In a view of the importance of the subject of the investigation, the Republican members felt, in view of the fact that Messrs. Denby and Olmstead were absent, that no action should be taken until Friday to give them an opportunity to be heard."

A motion was made to adjourn to Friday, but the motion failed by a vote of 4 to 4. The Republican members of the committee, under the circumstances, felt it was unfair and unjust to proceed with the case when only eight members were present.

After their reference to adjournment, Senator Sutherland and Representative McCall retired from the room, leaving only six present—less than a quorum.

Thereupon, various motions for the adoption of resolutions that practically decided the case were made. The resolutions adopted represented the views of only four Democrats and one insurgent Republican.

Such a hurried report rushed through in this manner and under these circumstances by only five of the twelve members of the committee, can be of little value to fair-minded and reasonable men. It is quite probable that it was nothing more than the play of party politics of the grossest kind.

ADJOURNMENT PROPER.

The chairman of the committee, after Senator Sutherland and Mr. McCall had retired, could have jointly ruled that a quorum not being present, the only motion in order was a motion to adjourn. He felt, however, that under the circumstances and inasmuch as the five members were so anxious to have their views exploited in that way, it was best to give them a full opportunity and ample rope in order to show the animus of which they were possessed.

It is well known in parliamentary law that when a quorum is not present, no business can be transacted but to adjourn."

In his statement referred to the absence of Congressmen Denby and Olmstead, and Senator Root.

In view of the fact that the issues involved were of the utmost gravity and that the committee had never met for a single moment's deliberation upon the case, I felt that fairness and propriety demanded we should do no less than to wait the coming of these members before making a final decision. I was astounded, therefore, when a member of the committee immediately upon the assembling of the committee today offered a series of resolutions constituting a final determination, and moved their adoption."

TOO MUCH DELAY.

Representative James M. Graham of Illinois, Democrat, said:

"In a spirit of fairness, I voted to take a recess till this morning to give two other members time to reach this city. It was stated these two had wired they would be here some time next Friday. We asked for an assurance that by Friday those members present would consent to take up the matter of a report, and that it should be released for the benefit of the public. But I could not get such assurance."

Satisfactory assurance has been given for three days of two members. We waited three days for the absentees. Should we keep on waiting indefinitely? The gravity of the issue is not a sufficient reason for indefinite delay."

"Almost ten weeks ago sufficient time to deliberate and decide on the matter was given. It was stated that a desire for partisan advantage was the cause for action today might be met fairly by a consideration of a matter already fully considered."

There was a quorum here and that was enough. It was simply the transaction of public business in the ordinary way by a majority of a quorum."

VOTE CLOVE IN NEVADA.

RENO (Nev.) Sept. 7.—Contrary to first reports received, it is now conceded by regular Republicans that George Springer, insurgent candidate for nomination as Attorney General, has won over Hugh Brown, Judge W. A. Massey claims the Republican nomination over T. L. Lodin, who was defeated by a majority of the vote in the primary election.

The nomination of Gov. Dickerson, through it is admitted the Dickerson Democratic ticket, is confirmed. Returns are remarkably slow in coming in. In Reno, in some precincts the vote was not counted until 4 o'clock Wednesday morning.

State Legislators May Be Through Today.

Proposition Bills Pass the Senate Quickly.

Assembly Wants Changes Made, However.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—The determination of the Assembly to make several amendments to the Constitution relating to the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco in 1915, in the interests of which the special session was called by the Governor, caused delay today and it is improbable the work of the legislators will be concluded before tomorrow night.

The two amendments upon which the session was called by the Governor, and in the Assembly half a dozen minor changes were made in the form of amendments to the amendments.

Tomorrow the original amendments will be passed and everything will be ready for final action by both Houses.

No work was done by the Legislature this afternoon. Sacramento is celebrating the "Dawn of Gold" with elaborate State fair to which the committee has added unusual attractions.

The legislators were invited to come the guests of the management of the fair grounds during the afternoon and spent the hours watching displays of horsemanship.

It is expected they will finish their work with little delay tomorrow.

So far as the exposition business is concerned, interest in the Governor's proposal is not very keen.

At the State Capitol, the committee on the State tax amendment, which was introduced by the Governor, is working on the amendment.

The amendments were carried finally by a vote of 32 to 2 on the State tax amendment.

EASY. SAYS HUSBAND SPENT WEALTH.

Mrs. Ethel Thomas Ross Procures Divorce.

She Married Her Reginald in Los Angeles.

Expensive Habits Took Her Fortune, She Says.

SEATTLE, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charming Reginald Ross, who had spent nearly $100,000 per month upon him for nearly four years of his married life, Mrs. Ethel Thomas Ross, who lives at the exclusive Perry Hotel, today procured from Judge Mitchell a decree of divorce from Reginald C. Ross, whom she married at Los Angeles November 1, 1904.

Mrs. Ross is the daughter of a Butte, Mont., pioneer, who died leaving much property to his children. Today Mrs. Ross told the court that her father had bequeathed her valuable business property in Montana, and that her brothers had united in giving her a large sum of money as a bridal gift.

"My husband began to spend my wedding portion from the start, and refused to go into a permanent business or do work of any kind," Mrs. Ross today told the court. "As time wore on, his financial needs grew larger and larger. I came to the conclusion that he was a fortune-hunter and cared for my money alone."

"Once," said the wife, "Ross procured a position of responsibility with an oil company in Oklahoma, but instead of taking vacations at frequent intervals."

"I stood all that," said the wife, "but when my husband began to run around with strange women I thought it time to quit."

LACK OF MONEY. Was a Godsend in This Case. It is not always that a lack of money is a benefit.

"A lady, of Green Forest, Ark., owes her health to the fact that she could not pay in advance the fee demanded by a specialist to treat her stomach trouble. In telling of her case she says:

"I had been treated by four different physicians during 10 years of stomach trouble. Later I called on another who told me he could not cure me; that I had neuritis of the stomach. Then I went to a specialist who told me I had catarrh of the stomach and said he could cure me in four months but would have to have my money down. I could not raise the necessary sum and in my extremity I was led to quit coffee and try Postum.

"So I stopped coffee and gave Postum a thorough trial and the results have been magical. I had not slept well at night, something I had not done for a long time; the pain in my stomach is gone and I am a different woman."

"I dreaded to quit coffee because every time I had tried to stop it I suffered from severe headaches, so I continued to drink it although I had reason to believe it was injurious to me, and was the cause of my stomach trouble and extreme nervousness. But when I had Postum to shift to it was different."

"To my surprise I did not miss coffee when I began to drink Postum. Coffee had been steadily and surely killing me and I didn't fully realize what was doing it until I quit and changed to Postum."

MANEUVERING. EVANS ON WAY TO OIL FIELDS.

AGGREGATION OF OPERATORS AT BAKERSFIELD.

Retired Admiral Declines to Be Interviewed and It is Stated That His Visit Is on Purely Private Business.

Los Angeles Men to Join Party. Rumors of a Big Deal.

SEATTLE, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Admiral Robley D. Evans, U.S.N., retired, and a party of eastern and California capitalists, arrived in Bakersfield tonight on a visit to the Kern county oil fields. Mr. Evans went directly to the Southern Hotel, and declined to be interviewed. It is said his visit here is on purely private business, as he is interested to some extent at Midway and Maricopa.

In the Evans party are N. E. Wilson, R. P. Boyer of San Francisco, Theodore P. Gilman, formerly State Controller of New York; R. L. Dunn and J. A. Croukshank of New York and D. S. Macinees of London, Eng. They will be joined in the morning by Col. Timotheus Spillane, John D. Thompson, former Mayor of St. Paul, Minn., and Hubert T. Moore, all of Los Angeles.

The party will visit the west side oil fields tomorrow. It is said the purchase of a large section of oil land is in the wind.

ASKS FOR CHANGE OF VENUE. HALSEY APPEARS FOR TRIAL. ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] S.F. FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—When T. V. Halsey appeared in Superior Court today for trial on a charge of bribery, his attorneys stated that they would ask to have the case assigned to some other department on the ground that Judge Dunne was prejudiced against the defendant. Halsey, who was an official of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company, was indicted on the charge of having bribed the Ruef-Schmitts Board of Supervisors. His trial was begun early in 1907, but was interrupted when he was ordered upon for appendicitis. His health since then has been so poor that he was not able to go to trial until today. Judge Dunne continued the case until September 19, when he will hear arguments on the motion to transfer it to another court.

GIVES TOES FOR LIVES. SEAMAN SAVES THE SHIP. ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SEATTLE, Sept. 7.—Henry Peterson, able-bodied seaman on board the steam schooner Charles Nelson, sacrificed three toes and probably saved his ship and all his mates from instant destruction yesterday. The Nelson was unloading eleven tons of dynamite at Possession Point, with a winch and tackle. A box containing 100 one-pound sticks of dynamite was placed ten feet above the deck and the sling began to slip. Peterson, who was waiting on the dock to have the dangerous box lowered on his truck, stuck out his foot and broke the fall. His foot was badly crushed and three toes are so mangled that they will have to be amputated.

RUEF'S HEALTH IS BAD. AN EXCUSE FOR LENIENCY. ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—In the hearing before Judge Lawlor to show cause why Abraham Ruef should not be remanded to jail, while his appeal against a fourteen-year sentence for bribery is pending, several physicians testified today that the health of the defendant would be injured by further incarceration.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Berry sought to prove that Dr. T. O. Rotblatt, one of the witnesses, was a former appointee of the Ruef-Schmitts administration, but during the cross-examination the physician denied this. Dr. C. A. Glover, autopsy surgeon, also testified that the defendant's health would be impaired, while Dr. William Mead denied that Ruef's physical condition would suffer through further confinement.

FIRES CHARGED TO YOUTH. PROSECUTION MAY RESULT. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) SURENVALLE, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The origin of the recent big forest fire north of here, near Fall City, Shasta county, has been traced to two youths, one being the son of Attorney Norman Barry of Surenvalle, and the other his chum, named Winchester. According to information received at national forest headquarters, these youths became separated and lost while hunting in the mountains and started small fires to signal each other by smoke. These fires got beyond their control and swept through the forest, doing immense damage to standing timber. They are said to have failed to send notice to the foresters as soon as they should and it is understood they are to be prosecuted.

SCHMITZ BUYS QUARRY? EXAMINER'S SLATE PROPERTY. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) PLACERVILLE, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is an apparently authentic report current here that former Eugene Schmitz of San Francisco has acquired the Eureka slate quarry at Washington, this county, and that he will operate there on a large scale in the immediate future. Schmitz was here a few days ago in company with J. W. Dineen of Oakland, owner of the quarry, and made a full examination of them. This is the largest slate quarry in the West and has an immense body of rock of good quality, easily quarried. It is connected with the railroad by a long siding, and has other expensive equipment, consisting of a complete plant for quarrying rock, manufacturing roofing and other finished product.

ENTHUSIASTIC. WICKERSHAM AND NAGEL ARE IMPRESSED BY ALASKAN TRIP.

Attorney-General Is for Development of That Country's Resources—Has Recommendation to Make to the President Regarding Coal Up There, But He Merely Hints at What It May Be—His Query Suggestive.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] SEATTLE, Sept. 7.—Attorney-General George F. Wickersham, who returned from a tour of Alaska last night in company with Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel, declares himself strongly in favor of Alaska's development. In an interview he said:

"Transportation is necessary to the growth of Alaska, and coal is necessary to transportation. It does seem rather illogical to say the least, that the railroads in Alaska had been forced to pay $14 a ton for Japanese or British Columbia coal, when they have much better fuel near them."

"I believe that Congress will this winter, work out some way by which the coal mines of Alaska may be developed, looking always to the protection of the government's interests."

While declining to outline the plan that he will recommend to the President, the Attorney-General propounded the query:

"Why couldn't the coal lands of Alaska be operated somewhat along the lines of the Chicago traction companies? The city of Chicago has at any time the right to take over the traction lines upon payment to the operators of an amount sufficient to reimburse them. I believe that coal operators would develop the Alaskan fields upon indeterminate contracts if they were assured that when their contracts were terminated they would be reimbursed for their investment."

Secretary Nagel was mainly interested on his trip in the fisheries, immigration and the lighthouse service. Both the Cabinet members were impressed with the need of better aids to navigation along the Alaskan coast. The seal fisheries of the Pribilof Islands were visited, as well as the salmon and halibut fisheries. Mr. Wickersham was amazed at the magnitude of the Alaska fisheries.

Attorney-General Wickersham and Secretary Nagel will leave for Portland, Or., late tomorrow night.

INVESTIGATIONS. SALOONISTS ARE ACCUSED OF SELLING DRUGS TO SOLDIERS.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Alarmed at the increase of the drug habit among the soldiers in the regular army, military authorities have sought the aid of the police department in stamping out the evil and saving the men of the line from the fangs who are responsible for the sale of the opium, cocaine and morphine to the soldiers.

The army investigation of the growth of the evil was instituted some time ago and it developed that the soldier victims of the drug habit were getting the drug from Barbary Coast saloon-keepers, who were operating under the municipal liquor ordinance. This fact was brought to the attention of the commissioners, and the army officers were promised that in the event of conclusive evidence being secured they would cite the offending saloon men to our word."

JOYOUS CARNIVAL CLOSES CONTEST.

Beautiful Venice Lends Charming Scene to Final Chapter of Most Successful of All "Times" Scholarship Events—Winners and Prizes.

VICTORY laurel-crowned, consistent and tireless effort well rewarded, and the gaiety of youth happy in the knowledge of work well done, joined hands before the curtain fell upon the biggest and best of all The Times' scholarship contests yesterday. It was the picnic wind-up. No better example of the mood that comes to honest, straightforward endeavor could be given than that furnished by the happy crowd that thronged to Venice to lend applause and felicitation to the group of prize winners, to whose own admirable courage and never-say-die spirit, their success was singly due. No more typical group of earnest seekers for self-betterment could be found in all the Southland than that which assembled at the scholarship headquarters to participate as guests of The Times, in the generous programme of festivities provided for them.

They were all there, from "Big Ben" Knapp, the Pasadena hustler who carried off the grand capital prize, down to those at the very bottom of the list, whose courage and tenacity kept them in the running to the last day, despite the formidable list of heavy scores ahead of them. In the long file of workers there was scarcely an absent one.

They were few, also, who did not avail themselves of the privilege of bringing a guest along. Mothers were the favorite choice, and by it one of the chief spurs to success was first brought to the front. As the mother of one of the heavy scorers expressed it: "We have been with our boys and girls in all the races, and some times, maybe, we were able to keep them encouraged to go on even when it seemed as though there was no hope of winning out." Brothers and sisters were there, pupils and teachers, friends and relatives, all bent on making the last day the biggest one of all.

Though the hour of assembly was set for 3:45 a.m., many were so determined to be there in time that as early as 3 o'clock they had begun to gather at the scholarship headquarters. There each received his badge—a neat little ribbon of bright red silk, a flag and a horn or megaphone, whereby exuberance fitting to the occasion could better express itself.

At 5:15 o'clock, the jolly crowd clambered aboard two special Los Angeles Pacific cars at the Union street station, adfuter with flags and banners, and the city was left behind with a final and victorious shout from the big horns. All the way to Venice they maintained a chorus that, if ear-splitting, was at least evidence of the spirit of their owners.

The day was ideal. The clouds of early morning hid the sun only long enough to insure an all-day coolness and before the journey's end was reached, it was peeping out in a joyous grin, entering fully into the spirit of the affair.

VENICE KEYS TURNED OVER.

Venice, in her gala dress, was from start to finish an unqualified success. Through the courtesy of the Abbot Kinney Company, owners of most of the pier concessions, the keys of the beautiful city by the sea were turned over to The Times' guests. All day the company's representatives, Dr. C. S. Bentley and F. K. McFarver, accompanied the merry-makers, indefatigable in their efforts to make the occasion a thoroughly pleasant one.

To their tireless attention and courtesy, much of its success was due.

Though it is difficult from a programme so crowded with festivities, to select any one as preeminently enjoyable, the two hours in the great plunge would get an anxious visitor, any. Some chose the surf, but the majority made for the big indoor tank, where they splashed and played, swam and dove, with all the jollity of a school of healthy young dolphins. Most of them are good swimmers, too, as frantic races from the fountain to the tank's edge ably testified. They shot the chutes and traveled on the rings, ducked and were ducked, executed complicated stunts on the apparatus, till the dinner call summoned them forth with appetites that boded ill to the loads of good things borne by the tables in the Auditorium.

AROUND THE "U."

The latter, prettily decorated with palms and flags, was set with long tables in a gigantic U, the white cloths strewn with hundreds of red and pink carnations. At its head were the directors of the contest, and on either side, the length of the long room, was a double bank of excellent examples of luncheon. For once the horns were stilled, yet only long enough for their proprietors to do justice to the edibles.

When the luncheon came to an end, not from any failure in the cuisine but by reason of a question of public capacity, occurred the principal event of the day—and, for the forty odd contestants, of the season. On behalf of The Times, Harry Chandler, vice president and assistant general manager, made a brief and graceful speech, expressing his appreciation of the endeavor of those who had served it so faithfully and well, an appreciation to which he was empowered to give other and more concrete expression.

The presentation of the prizes and scholarships brought into sharp relief one characteristic point—the entire absence of any of the petty jealousies that sometimes mar such contests and of any dissatisfaction over the awards given. Though many of the contestants became acquainted, otherwise than by their nicknames and their scores, for the first time yesterday, the spirit of good-fellowship and friendly interrelationship was instant and sincere. From the winner of the capital prize down to the recipient of the twenty-ninth scholarship, every boy and girl was warmly and generously applauded by the less fortunate as he or she stepped forward to receive the well-earned reward.

HANDING OUT THE GOLD.

All of the cash awards were made in gold of the largest possible denominations. The big heap of yellow coins, representing a total of $1600, flanked by piles of blue envelopes containing the certificates of scholarships, was an impressive one. "Big Ben" took twenty-five double eagles in his cap, "Fair Florence" ten, "Mary Pearl" five, and Ben Knapp, winner of capital prize, and Florence Lambert, who took second.

Two Men With a Lot of Women's Apparel in Their Room Under Arrest.

Jose Castro and Louis Garcia were locked up last night in the City Jail on a charge of burglary. In their room on North Main street was found an elaborate array of women's shoes, kimono and other articles of wearing apparel which the police believe to be the fruits of several burglaries. An effort will be made today to have the articles identified.

The arrest indirectly came about through the attempt yesterday of one of the men to cash a check for $50, which the police suspect was stolen from No. 583 1/2 Central avenue on August 22.

Garcia is believed to be the man who attempted to cash the check. The paper was presented to the proprietor of a clothing store at No. 120 North Spring street, with the request that it be cashed. Ernest McCormick is the name of the payee on the check, while it is signed by Mrs. Mathilde Hadcock of Lankershim.

The man presenting the check was asked if it was his name on it, and he replied: "Can't you read?"

The merchant decided that McCormick didn't sound like the name of ## Searches for Erring Wife Who Deserted Their Children and Wishes to Reform Her.

Determined to make one last effort to lead her back into the path of rectitude, Henry Brobst, a railroad machanic living at No. 1225 East First street, has instituted a search for his erring wife.

Mrs. Brobst left her home here last December, deserting her husband and two little children. She is alleged to have taken up with a barber named Murphy, who is charged with having taken her to San Diego and there placed her in a disorderly house.

Brobst got on the track of the woman and followed her to San Diego, only to find that Murphy had left her and that she had accepted a photographer named Bentley in his place. He located her in a house in what is known as the Stingers district and caused her arrest on a vagrancy charge, hoping thus to get her out of the hands of Bentley.

Mrs. Brobst was placed on six months' probation with the understanding that she would return to her husband in this city. This was on the 3rd inst., but she has not been heard from since.

Brobst says that his wife, who is but 22 years old, is not very strong-minded and he believes that were she gotten out of the clutches of Bentley she would reform and lead a decent life. Bentley is supposed to live in Covina and it is thought that he may have taken the woman with him.

Mrs. Brobst is described as 5 feet 6 inches tall, weight 125 pounds, fair complexion, brown hair, thin face and deep blue eyes. She has a slight swelling on the neck.

EVENING HIGH OFFERS MUCH.

ADVANCE NIGHT SCHOOL WILL OPEN MONDAY.

Preparation for Practical Work, Its Cardinal Feature—Business and Professional Men Among Its Students—An Enlarged Curriculum. Teachers' Meetings Called.

The Evening High School, which has become a permanent institution in connection with the city schools, will open in the Polytechnic High School building on Monday evening, at 7 o'clock.

It is open to all students over the age of 14 years, who have completed the grammar school course, or who by virtue of experience or maturity, are capable of doing the work. To all pupils under 21 years of age, tuition is free; all others being required to pay $2.50 a term.

The school offers regular High School credit for all work completed, and such pupils as merit and desire it, will be recommended for commercial positions. The method of treatment of all subjects will be with direct reference to their immediate practical value, and in order to get full benefits it will be necessary for students to be regular and punctual, as the moment a class drops below a given point in average attendance, the class will be discontinued.

In addition to the regular courses in English, mathematics, Spanish, German, French, chemistry, electricity, electrical engineering, drawing, architecture and shop work, courses have been added in craftwork and domestic arts.

ADVANCED ARCHITECTURE.

In the architectural department the scope has been greatly enlarged, and divided under five different heads, as follows: (1.) Beginners, open to those who have had at least six months mechanical drawing; (2.) Advanced, open to those who have had some experience or at least one year of architectural drafting in a technical school; (3.) Structural, designing steel and reinforced concrete, open only to those who have had sufficient office or technical experience; (4.) Estimating, intended for contractors, or those who wish to study better methods of computing the cost of work; (5.) Perspective, theory, pen and pencil, color.

In the new department of craftwork, design, stenciling, metal, leather work and pottery will be taught. Millinery dressmaking and cooking will also be taught.

The school, in short, offers complete preparation for practical work in almost every line, and offers a rare opportunity to those who cannot attend a day school, or who, by reason of age, could not do so. Judged by preceding years, the school will register about 700 students, and will be in charge of Robert A. Thompson and a full corps of competent instructors from the day high schools.

Among the students of former years have been business and professional men, school teachers, mechanics and other persons seeking an enlarged knowledge in special lines.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS.

Preparatory to the opening of all the city schools on Monday, Superintendent Francis has called a meeting of the principals in the Olive-street High School for 9 o'clock Saturday morning. At 10 o'clock a general teachers' meeting is called to meet in the Los Angeles High School auditorium. In the afternoon principals will meet teachers in the various buildings throughout the city.

There will be no line up for High School pupils this year, as there is now abundant room for all who seek admission. Those pupils wishing to transfer from one High School to another must have the indorsement of the principal of the school from which they wish to go, and no High School transfers will come through the office of the superintendent, as heretofore.

THIELEN'S JOB UNFILLED.

General Freight and Passenger Agent T. A. Graham of the Southern Pacific said yesterday that he has not decided upon a successor to Ralph Thielen, who resigned a short time ago as district freight agent.

There are several applicants in the field for the job and all of them have their friends out working for them. But the very plethora in available timber is proving an embarrassment to Graham. In the meantime the chief clerk of the department has charge of the work.

GONE ON VISIT TO IRELAND.

On the last day of August, Benjamin Porter resigned the position he had held with the Los Angeles Pacific Railway for ten years, and with the full knowledge of his wife, started for his old home in Ireland, where he expects to remain for several months.

Somebody started a story that he had mysteriously disappeared and that his family was in distress. His laughing wife yesterday said that the only object she has in wishing to contradict the rumor, is for the sake of her children. She says she is fully informed on her husband's movements and expects his return at the appointed time.

READY FOR OUTING.

The members of the Traffic Association have completed their plans for the excursion to Catalina tomorrow. The railroad men will go over by the early morning boat and will devote the entire day to jollity and merrymaking. A programme has been prepared with great secrecy and it is promised that those who take part in the excursion will have several surprises. At the last moment the San Francisco Traffic Men's Association decided that it could not make the trip. It had been supposed that a delegation of about 50 would come down from the North, but a change of plans was necessitated by the elaborate preparations for the Admission Day celebration in San Francisco. It is possible that a small delegation of the northerners may be on hand, however.

ENGEL SUCCEEDS JANSEN.

E. J. Engel has taken up the duties of his new position as assistant to President Ripley of the Santa Fe. This position was formerly held by former Vice-President W. B. Jansen, who resigned on September 1, owing to ill health.

AFRAID OF HIM.

When Special Officer Johnson made the arrest, Mrs. Poltera told him of the manner in which her husband had been acting, and said that, although she would be safe during the night, she was afraid to have him return when he is released.

What steps, if any, the family may take to prevent his return, were not intimated last night to the Central Police Station. Poltera appeared amused. He chuckled and smiled continually. He gave his name to the desk sergeant without trouble, but to all other questions he would simply laugh in a quiet way.

He wore blue jeans, rolled high over heavy shoes, a black coat, soft black shirt, a very large apron and a black soft hat. He looked more like a French peasant than a ranchman. He had but a few cents in his pockets, and followed the jailer to his cell smiling and chuckling.

Before his young daughter was murdered, Poltera was considered moderate in his drinking, but lately he has become addicted to the use of a low grade of brandy which made him lose all self-control.

When Special Officer Johnson appeared on the scene last night, Poltera confronted him and accused him of planning harm to the family. Johnson grasped him by the shoulder and to his surprise was able to lead him very easily to the automobile in front of the house. The ride through the cold air to the City Jail apparently sobered him somewhat, for a few minutes after the machine had been started, Poltera became more rational.

A. G. Cameron, who was charged with disturbing the peace of Miss Maude Durfee on Saturday evening, was taken to the city jail by the Police Judge Chambers, but before passing sentence the judge asked further testimony.

Chambers testified that as she passed down the sidewalk, Cameron said something and reached toward her. He had been annoyed by her the same way once before, and she was tired of it.

When Cameron was asked what he had to say about it, he responded: "I have nothing to say; she's telling me to get out of her way up now and annoy her never again."

Justice Chambers, in tones very quiet and calm, said: "I will accept Cameron to thirty days in jail."

Cameron looks anything but the Lothario, and there is some question about his being a special favorite.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

INTEREST IN THE OUTCOME.

Two Important Questions Before the Oil Men.

San Emidio Field Is to Be Scene of Activity.

General News of Interest from Oil Fields.

There are two questions of paramount interest to the oil men of California at the present time—the probable price of oil and the steps taken to protect the producers from unjustified territory from a too rigorous interpretation of the law; in fact, from a departure from previous custom.

Recently two different organizations have been set on foot. The California Oil Men has been launched at Bakersfield, including representation from every oil district of the State, and the Western Oil Producers' Association has been organized in this city. The latter now has over 100 members, and the election of the eleven directors will be announced tonight at a meeting to be held in the Chamber of Commerce. The voting for directors has been going on during the past week by letter.

While the Western Oil Producers' Association was not mentioned at Bakersfield last Sunday when the California Oil Men was organized, it does not necessarily mean that there is an irreconcilable conflict between the two organizations. In fact, it may develop that the two may be able to work together for mutual good. There is considerable duplication in the membership of the two organizations, and the fact that the latter is in earnest and their accomplishments will be watched with much interest.

So far as the other question—the probable price of oil—is concerned, it is a matter of great interest. The Standard Oil Company and the independent agencies both need oil and have cut the price of daily runs in the northern field. The Union and Independent Agency have a large surplus and are endeavoring to keep up the price of oil. An acute stage in the industry has been reached.

BANKERS SHOW WILL WITNESS ACTIVITY.
BANKERS' SHOW, Sept. 8.—A new oil field has been opened up. The land is a few miles south of Bakersfield and has been owned by the Midway Oil Company, which bought a portion of the San Emidio ranch. The new oil company will adopt the name of the San Emidio Oil Company, and the report is that the Pittsburgh Oil Company will be the first to develop it.

What the plans of the new company have not been made public as yet. The considerable cost of the new field is estimated at $100,000. The new company will be a great activity in that section and many oil men will watch the outcome of the new field. Frank Roberts, who has been connected with the J. F. Lucey company, will be superintendent of the new company.

C. C. Heck, who for several years has been conducting a store and the station at Oil Center in the Kern field, has disposed of his store interest to J. R. Rosen. Mr. Heck is known to most every oil man in this part of California, who will be surprised to learn of his latest plans. Mr. Heck has opened a new store at Fellows and has oil interests there which developed at his time.

H. H. Halstead, who has been a contractor in the Kern field, building up the Kern field, has decided to drop contracting and has taken a position with some of the companies as foreman. The Kern Union Oil Company has the lease of tools at work on its well in the Kern field. Drilling has been started on well No. 1 and the well is up for well No. 2. Two new wells are being erected on the Kern field.

The Kern Union Oil Company has completed the building of another rig. Several contracts have been entered into by companies with the Standard Oil Company in the last few days. The California Midway has agreed to furnish its oil for 75 cents per barrel. United Oil Company is to receive 50 cents per barrel. Eagle Creek Oil Company will deliver its oil for 60 cents, while the Lathrop Oil Company will get 60 cents.

H. H. Halloway, a well-known oil man, who now resides in Los Angeles, has been the first part of the work in Bakersfield, looking up some friends to look and meeting old friends. The south of the Bordo Oil Company, Kern field, has gone to Porterville on a visit.

URSE CIRCULATOR.
FARMER OIL COMPANY.
The Farmer Oil Company on section 10-15-16 has installed a urse in well No. 1, which was made necessary by the amount of shifting sands. Good urse is now being made in the drilling of this well. A depth of 400 feet has been reached.

On Sept. 25-27 the company has commenced some showing of oil. The well, which is generally known as the "Maid of Manalaya," is expected to be in production within the next 300 or 350 feet. The well is of great proportions and is being drilled with a 10-inch bit.

tendered his resignation and the directors at the last meeting, elected Judge J. W. Campbell to succeed him. Mr. Smith, with his wife and son, sailed yesterday for Japan and will spend several months in a trip around the world.

STANDARD'S EQUIPMENT.

BIGGEST STORAGE FARM.
According to authority, the statement that the Standard Oil Company will double its pumping capacity in the northern field is misleading. The Standard has ample power at present to move its entire shipments. The company has the earthwork finished for one of its half-million-barrel reservoirs at Bakersfield, and has started the cementing on the second one.

The Standard has thirty reservoirs, with a capacity of 17,000,000 barrels of oil, besides seventy 25,000-barrel steel tanks. This is recognized as the largest oil storage farm in the world. In addition to this the company has thirty-three 25,000-barrel steel tanks at San Pablo and one 230,000-barrel reservoir for storage at Point Richmond.

Young Artist Among the Bankers Executes Attractive Design to Advertise the Coming Show.

ture commissioned him to draw the posters which will advertise the show. These posters are expected to draw crowds.

When Kreim arrived in Los Angeles he decided that being an artist in the sunny Southland would just meet his measure, but he soon found that it would not measure his meat. As a result he gave up the delightful vocation of drawing sketches for the one which would bring daily bread and fell for he prefers life to butter. He obtained a position in the safe deposit vaults of one of the large banks, and he recorded that not a single one of the boxes has escaped from his care.

The poster drawn by Kreim represents a Kanaka maiden, decked out in the flowers and jewels of her native land, Hawaii, a veritable fairy queen of a near fairyland. In addition to this poster, he has drawn several to be used in cover designs for the programme. He has also assisted Girard in designing the costumes and scenery of the show.

Improvement Steps Taken by the East Hollywood Board of Trade—Car Catches Fire.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 7.—At a meeting of the East Hollywood Board of Trade, held last night, steps were taken for the improvement of Hollywood boulevard from Benefit street to Normandie avenue. This stretch of road is the connecting link between the end of the Sunset boulevard pavement and Hollywood. The south side has recently been paved with macadam by the county, and it is the intention of the organization to make a vigorous campaign for the improvement of the north side. When East Hollywood was annexed to Los Angeles, there remained several thousand dollars in the district road fund.

This money now belongs to the city and a petition will be presented to the City Council asking that the money be expended on Hollywood boulevard. If this cannot be done, an effort will probably be made to form an assessment district and have the work done under the Vrooman act.

CAR CATCHES FIRE.

A beach-bound car on the Los Angeles Pacific caught fire in front of J. P. Grass residence on Hollywood boulevard and La Brea avenue about midnight last night, and was partially consumed. The trouble was caused from a detached feed wire which fell on the front end of the roof of the car. No one was injured.

The effort to rid Hollywood of undesirable canine inhabitants has been renewed this week and a dozen or more dogs of assorted sizes and colors have been captured by the police officers and taken to Los Angeles by the dog catcher.

ANCIENT PALACE NOW A MUSEUM.

NEW MEXICO IS AHEAD IN ITS ETHNOLOGICAL WORK.

Life of Cave Dwellers Shown in Exhibition Opened at Santa Fe—Accomplishments by Summer School of American Archeology Are Unique and Important.

Charles F. Lummis has returned from a three weeks' trip to New Mexico to inspect the summer work of the School of American Archeology, of which he is a founder and member of the managing board. The regents of the Museum of New Mexico, of whom Mr. Lummis is one, formally opened the museum in a brilliant reception given by the people of Santa Fe.

The Legislature of New Mexico has given over to the regents, for museum purposes, the ancient Governor's Palace, the oldest historic building in the United States, with $2000 a year for maintenance and $2000 for repairs—an act worthy of the most progressive State.

Behind these massive adobe walls Gov. Utermoore stood on the embattled Indiana in the red sun, was first of the Spanish rule after the reconquest of 1693; and in one of the musty rooms Gen. Law Wallace wrote part of "Ben Hur."

This historic pile, fronting 350 feet on the old Plaza, and focus of the official history of New Mexico for 300 years, has suffered cruelly by time, weather and neglect. Under the competent two-fold care of Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, director of archeology for the Archeological Institute of America, a miracle has been wrought in short order.

The placita has been cleared of some thousands of cartloads of muck, the crevices filled with 15,000 pounds of lime, and a sewer installed; the walls rebuilt in solid cement, the stables rebuilt into cement workrooms—carpenter shop, photographic quarters, painters' studio, laboratories for linguistics and other studies, storerooms, etc.—perfect sanitation, electric lights and a first-class steam heating plant.

The school and museum, working in parallel lines (very much as the Southwest Society and the Southwest Museum do in this city) have already some ten thousand negatives of New Mexico, Arizona and Guatemala, where the most attractive and artistic ruins of Indian phonetic, speech and song.

In the main building have been fitted offices for the school, and two of the most attractive and artistic museum rooms in America are already open. The Pu-yu room, devoted to the great cave-dweller men, was first to be installed. A matchless archeological exhibit, showing all the industries and arts of the primitive people; and around the four sides of the room, higher up, are mural paintings by Carl Lott showing the cliffs and caves and great communal house of the Pu-yu. The regents held their second annual field meeting in the Rito, forty miles west of Santa Fe, in the wild gorge whose tufa cliffs were alive, a thousand years ago, with the brown first Americans, whose carved-out caves and five-story pueblo houses now waken the lively interest, not only of the scientific world, but of all who love beauty and romance.

The school has done great work in the Rito: excavating the debris from the great communal house (which is extraordinary in being round), and the tufa pueblos and the numerous altars or council-chambers. This is the

GETS A SHOCK ON A TRAIN.

Young Business Man Baited by Fake Telegram.

Arrest Follows as Result of Charges by Creditor.

Worried Because May Have to Stay in Jail.

James M. Mullins, formerly proprietor of an electrical supply house in Boston, was taken into custody by Deputy United States Marshal Franklin yesterday. He is charged with having embezzled property valued at $1500 while he was taking advantage of the bankruptcy law.

The arrest followed as a result of charges made in Texas by an electrical apparatus supply company, which was one of Mullins' heaviest creditors. He declares that the charges are false and that he will resist being taken to the Southern state for trial.

Mullins has been traveling in the West for several weeks and passed through this city en route to the North about a month ago. It was learned that he was about due to arrive here again and Franklin was assigned to take him in custody.

When the officer believed he had discovered the train upon which Mullins was riding, he procured the assistance of a number of fellow passengers.

Mullins was given a fake telegram and told to go through the cars calling Mullins' name. He called, "Telegram for Mr. Mullins," Franklin, who was following him closely, felt like choking him for mixing his Irish, but did not wish to spoil the trap by approaching him. The bait was swallowed by Mullins.

"Maybe that's for me," he called to the agent.

"Did you say your name was Mullins?" asked Franklin.

"Yes," was the reply.

"All right, then, just sit still," the officer told him. "I am from the United States Marshal's office and I have a warrant for you. I don't care to have any scene here and there will be none if you are quiet."

Mullins offered no resistance and accompanied Franklin to the Federal building. The warrant was then read to him and he expressed surprise at its contents.

DEFIES CROOKED WORK.

The prisoner is a clean-cut young fellow and has the appearance of a high-class business man. His good-looking young wife was with him when he was arrested. They could easily be taken for a pair who are fond of getting the full measure of life's pleasures.

"I wasn't expecting any such reception as this when I arrived in this city," Mullins said, in discussing his case. "I came West to look for a job. I passed through here a month ago and liked the place. In fact, I had a better time here than I did in San Francisco, Portland or Seattle. I decided to come back here to go to work."

"I went through bankruptcy in July," he said, "and was nothing crooked about it. I did it. There were a lot of things I could have exempted if I had time to do so, but I let everything go in. I thought if they had been properly handled, I would have more than made my liabilities."

"My financial trouble came about in this way. I owned this electrical construction place and sold it. I did not get all my money out of it. The management went wrong and I took it to court to keep it from going through bankruptcy. The affairs were more involved than I thought they were, and the easiest way out of it was to go to bankruptcy."

"I got everything pretty well straightened up and turned it over to my lawyer. Then I bought a couple of things. I thought I was doing all right. I would start in again here. The only thing that worries me is that I don't want to go to jail. They have fixed the bail at $1000. I am a friend of the United States Attorney back there and they have telegraphed him to have it reduced. I expect to give bonds and go to work until my lawyer here."

Each succeeding season we wonder if we have not reached the limit of excellence in stylish footwear, but the next season provides its pleasing surprises. This year our display of stylish fall footwear is easily far ahead of our nearest effort of former years, which is saying considerable. Such an array of ultra-fashionable footwear was never before displayed anywhere at any price. It is an "all-star" aggregation—the pick of the best—the very cream of the new exclusive fall styles. Best of all displayed at Baker's customary "close-margin" prices.

BAN ON HAZING.

Hazing at Stanford received another jolt from the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs yesterday. It has prohibited further "tubbing" of the "freshies" and has issued the following statement for the express benefit of the bloodthirsty "sophies":

"The committee is opposed to all forms of hazing. It defines hazing as including all practices which compel students to submit to treatment from fellow-students that is humiliating and dangerous. Such practices are regarded as an infringement on personal liberty, and are an offense against good order."

"In view of the offensive character of the recent freshman-sophomore disturbances and of their interference with the work of the university, the practice of 'tubbing' and all inter-ferences with the personal liberties of fellow-students is prohibited."

THE DERBY "SWEEP."

Enormous Sale of Tickets for the Races Held by the Calcutta Turf Club.

The Derby "sweep" is a most popular institution, and in nearly every club of any pretensions at least one "sweep" is organized as regularly as the Derby season comes around, says London Tit-Bits.

world is that run by the Calcutta Turf Club. In 1908 there were as many as 120,000 tickets sold, the proceeds amounting to the huge sum of about £20,000. Forty per cent, or £8,000, of this went to the drawer of the winner.

Twenty per cent, or £4,000, formed the prize for the holder of the second horse past the winning post, and 10 per cent, or £2,000, to the drawer of the third horse in.

A few years ago the first prize in this gigantic Derby "sweep" fell to the share of an engine driver who had been lucky enough to draw the winner. The consequence was that he found himself £20,000 the richer.

In the year 1907 the first prize in this "sweep" was won by the third officer on one of the vessels of the British India Line. In the following year that signal good fortune fell to a clerk in the Bank of Madras, the horse he drew being Signorietta.

Last year the subscriber who drew Minor disposed of a half-share in his ticket for the substantial sum of £600.
Had he retained the whole interest, he would, of course, have done a great deal better. But, as it was, he received altogether £20,000, enough to enable him to live in luxury for the remainder of his days.

Capt. H. T. Babon, who has recently returned from India for a year's furlough, drew Lemberg in this year's Calcutta sweepstakes. He has won £50,000. Capt. Babon, who is a stepson of the Rev. C. E. Chard, rector of Hatchbeauchamp, bought it, it is said, three tickets in the sweepstakes.

"During the great 'boom' in Johannesburg, some enormous Derby "sweeps" were brought off. The subscription to one of these amounted to upward of £50,000, the price, needless to say, being on a correspondingly substantial scale.

The tickets were eagerly bought up by people of all classes, even schoolboys and schoolgirls being subscribers. One of the last-named, an enterprising damsel of 15 years, was sent into a paroxysm of delight by winning a prize of £10,000.

Nowhere in the universe is the Derby "sweep" more popular than in Australia. Men deny themselves the luxuries and even necessities in order to have a sovereign in a "sweep" of that amount. There are workmen in Melbourne today who have had a sovereign in a "sweep" on every Derby during the last forty years.

The prizes have a tendency to fall in the most unexpected directions, and a laborer has been known to pull off a premier prize of as much as £25,000.
In Melbourne there are dozens of Derby "sweeps" held, and the total of the subscriptions received by the pro-motors must run well into six figures.

"Sweeps" are not infrequently heard of in the antipodes. Here is one concerning a "Tattler" "sweep." The cook on one of the Australian coasting vessels invested 5 shillings in a ticket, and promised the stewardess of the boat half of whatever amount of money he won with it.

When his vessel touched at Townsville the cook found a telegram awaiting him conveying the gratifying intimation that he had won the first prize, amounting to no less than £6750. His first act after learning of his good fortune was to seek out the stewardess and acquaint her therewith.

"I have to give you £3375," he said.
"What do you say to taking me and the lot?" The stewardess did not require much time to make up her mind.
In fact, she accepted the offer on the spot, and when the vessel arrived at Brisbane the marriage ceremony was duly performed.

The total cost of public and private charity in New York City is about $25-000,000 annually, according to estimates prepared for Mayor Gaynor's Commission on Congestion of Population. Of this sum, the city spends about $15,000,000.

brokenly, but she stated clearly that if possible, she wished to prevent the return of Poltera to their home.

"I think I will go downtown in the morning to see what can be done to prevent him coming home," she said while sobbing hysterically. "I am afraid of him."

She spoke of the murder of her daughter and the memory of it sent her into fresh paroxysms of hysteria. She volunteered the assertion that her husband was guilty of threats against herself and son only.

The police stated last night that the essential steps to take were either to have him examined and sent to an asylum, if found proper to send him there, or put him under bond to keep the peace.

The police believe it necessary that some steps be taken immediately to safeguard the family.

Although not authoritatively it was stated at the Sheriff's office last night that Poltera would probably be given a rigid cross-examination this morning.

STORY OF CRIME.
Though between the little girl's lifeless fingers was held a small lock of hair which she had evidently torn from her assailant's head in her death struggle, no one was brought to trial upon the charge of killing her.

Her body was found within a few feet of the road which leads into Griffith Park and but a short distance from the park. It was believed that the little girl's slayer had intended to throw her body into a sluice, which stood within a few feet of the place where the body was found. Examination of the cover of the sluice showed that an attempt had been made to pry it off.

The little girl disappeared on May 12, while on her way home from Los Feliz school. She was accompanied half way home by two of her schoolmates, then she set out to walk the remaining distance of two miles alone, as she had previously been in the habit of doing.

Her body was found three days later by Jasper Steffer and J. A. Dyson, who were cutting weeds along the road. They left it as they found it and notified Sheriff Hammel. Two or three suspects were arrested, but later released.

The girl had been abused and then a knife thrust through her neck from the right side.

ing dinner of the 1910 season, to enjoy a most unique and finished programme. Perhaps the most interesting feature was the first presentation of a one-act Indian play, "The Call of the Desert," written by Miss Ruth Mitchell, daughter of John S. Mitchell, manager of the Holbrook.

The plot and lines, save in immaterial details, proved to be striking. The playlet should prove successful, allowing proper time for rehearsal and minor corrections.

Luella Mayne-Windoor, playing the title role of Lo-lo-mi, a Hopi Indian girl and graduate of Harvard, was given the opportunity to demonstrate the excellent quality of her soprano voice in a number of interpolated songs. Aubrey John Tilley, the lover, and Edith Adams Stewart were highly satisfactory.

Maurice Arnold created merriment by playing "Tarara Boom De Aye," with improvisations, after the style of Bach, Gounod, Wagner and other composers. Grace M. James, soprano, was encored enthusiastically after her group of well selected songs. Julius Bierlich and A. J. Stamm played a sonata, written by Henry Schoenfeld, which was very much appreciated. Fred G. Ellis, a baritone from Omaha, who is to make his home here, proved a delightful surprise. Few voices heard in Los Angeles during the past season have proved more pleasing. The readings of Charlotte A. Powers were received with much enthusiasm and laughter. Homer L. Grunn appeared as accompanist at the piano.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ESCONDIDO, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The findings of the autopsy and inquest held here tonight were that George Mendahall, aged 63, a rancher in Bear Valley, died on account of a fall from his wagon in which his neck was broken.

Mendahall left his home in a donkey cart yesterday and today was found dead by the roadside 1500 yards from his home. Circumstantial evidence pointed to foul play. Evidence at the inquest showed that Mr. Mendahall had heart trouble.

HOPE TO GET BOOK EXCHANGES.

CAMPAIGN STARTED TO DRAW THE LIBRARIANS.

Committee Discusses Plans for Offering Attraction for Next Convention of the American Association of Librarians, Which Will Be Held July 22-24, 1911.

At the last convention of that association the Executive Committee decided to hold the next meeting in Southern California.

In order to get things moving Manager Linnard last night called together a few invited guests for a little chat to devise ways and means for bringing the next meeting to the city.

The kindergarten teachers of the public schools have sent another petition to the Board of Education, requesting an advance in salaries over and above the rate which was recently adopted by the board.

It was stated that Denver is after the convention, and has offered to stand a part of the expenses of the meeting. In answer to that proposition the Hotel Maryland and Board of Trade agreed to meet any reasonable proposition made by any other city.

"There is no doubt but that we will get them," said President Geoghegan last night. "There are two good reasons. The first is that the all want to come here, and the next is that this is the very best place for them to come."

It was stated that the librarians do not want to go to a big city, but on the other hand want to go to a smaller place where they will have much privacy. For that reason Los Angeles will not try to get the convention, and it is hoped that the city that Los Angeles has agreed to help secure the meeting for some other Southern California city.

A statement will be sent to the Executive Committee of the association in a few days showing the advantages of Pasadena as a convention city, and also the success attained by the city in entertaining conventions during this summer, including the entertainment of the American Institute of Homoeopathy and the International Union for Cooperation in Solar Research.

A conference will be held yesterday between County Supervisor Manning and President Geoghegan and Secretary Bureau of the Board of Trade in reference to the proposed Arroyo Bridge. Architect William W. H. called to explain his plans for the structure.

Mr. Manning carefully inspected the plans and listening to an explanation of raising money as explained by Mr. Geoghegan, and also the necessity for a bridge to connect the city with the boulevard now being built by the county. Supervisor Manning stated that he was in favor of the bridge, but that he would do everything he can to bring it about.

"Of course," he said, "the County Surveyor will have to go over the proposed plans and check them up and ascertain for himself the probable cost. I think it would be well to have that done before the matter of appropriation is brought before the board. Then we will know about the cost, and we will know how to bridge will cost and will know how to build it."

Mr. Manning then said that he would do everything possible for it. It is the hope of the board that the bridge will be built, and that the city will be able to connect with the boulevard and the county half seems a fair one. I will be busy in the east end of the county this week, but on next Monday I will take the proposed plans to the County Surveyor and have him go right to work on them. I think it will be well to have the board inspect the site.

"Hoping the letters sent to the Board of Supervisors by the Board of Trade and Mayor Earley, about two weeks ago, will be read by the board at the site of the proposed bridge, and will say that for some reason the letter did not reach the board until yesterday and we knew nothing about it. Of course we were busy with the election returns, but I believe we must have found time to make a short trip anyway."

CAR HITS HACK. W. P. Gathers, known as "Tennessee," has been a public hack driver in Pasadena many years. He was run down by a southbound Pacific Electric car at the corner of Center and Broadway streets at 11 o'clock last night. "Tennessee" was thrown from his car, and the car struck him on the head, knocking him out. He was taken to the hospital, but died before he could be removed.

WATER COMPANIES EXPRESS A WILLINGNESS.

Civic Campaign League Takes Up the Question and a Committee of That Organization Succeeded in Getting Answers from the Owners of the Town's Aqueduct Supplies.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 7.—The question of municipal ownership of water is again attracting public attention, and the feeling that the city should own its water supply is stronger than it was a year ago when a proposition to issue bonds for that purpose was voted down.

Recently the Civic Campaign League, composed of committees from the Chamber of Commerce, Realty Board, Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and City Council, was organized, and the municipal water question was one of the subjects to which it gave early attention.

As a starter the league appointed a committee to confer with the Long Beach and Alhambra water companies regarding prospective deals. They were asked three questions, whether they would sell; would they sell to a value to be fixed by a board of competent engineers acting as arbitrators; and would they pay half the expense of such board?

To this both companies returned answers in the affirmative, with the added information that the companies were willing to be fair in any pending deal. These replies were submitted to a meeting of the Civic League last night, and a resolution was adopted to be presented to the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow morning for similar action asking the City Council to take up the subject at once, believing that the proposition will meet general approval, prove a wise investment, have securing agitation and expensive litigation and eliminate from municipal politics for all time a diverse and vexatious question.

At the meeting of the Civic League discussed the matter thoroughly and were unanimous for the purchase of both plants provided they can be had at reasonable figures. The proposition of the companies will be presented to the City Council tomorrow morning.

LUMBER THEFT CHARGED. Richard Loywell, who resides north of the city, was arrested this morning on two charges of stealing lumber from the county, the complaints being made to by Road Foreman C. W. Casaboom. Loywell was arrested after being found in possession of lumber stolen from the county.

FOUR RIBS BROKEN. In what the victim says was an unusual accident, A. F. Beckett, an old resident of the city, was injured in a collision with an auto. Mr. Beckett was riding west on Second street on his bicycle carrying a sack of goods when he was struck by an auto.

NOT READY TO SELL. Negotiations between the Civic League and the Dock and Terminal Company relative to the city purchasing the entire holdings of the company as a problem at hand still for the present, owing to the dock company's refusal to place any price upon its property, are not completed.

LIBRARY GROWS. At the meeting of the Board of Library Trustees held last evening Miss D. Wilsey was elected an assistant in the library. Miss Clara B. The automobile, which was rigged for a desert trip, was only slightly damaged, a bent guard, and the cap on the radiator being broken. No blame was attached to the doctor as he was between the car, curb and the team and, if he had not been going down the hill, could probably have stopped the car, which slid eighty feet after the brakes were put on. ## READY TO QUIT.

STRIKERS ARE FEELING SICK.

ONLY FEAR OF BODILY HARM KEEPS THEM OUT.

Few Journeymen Iron Workers Among Illness, and Most Pickets Are Now Helping Forwardly. May Be Put Into Practice—Broad Line Unpopular.

The union-laborite metal workers who were out on strike at the command of their bosses are heartily sick of their bargain, and if it were not that they feared their more radical associates, probably half of them would be back to work at once.

A shrewdly based picket on one of the downtown buildings was approached yesterday by his co-employer. "Do you think that you acted quite wisely in striking?" he was asked. "No, sir, I don't," I cursed the day I was ever induced to start on this fool business. And most of the other fellows feel just the same way about it," was his reply.

"Then why don't you men give up and come back to work?"

"Lead, Ed, come back tomorrow for me," said the man who was asked. "Lead, Ed, come back tomorrow for me," said the man who was asked. "Lead, Ed, come back tomorrow for me," said the man who was asked.

The claim of the disgruntled union-laborite that the iron works are jeopardizing the lives of their workmen by employing unskilled labor to take the place of the strikers, is not supported by the facts. The claim is a business one, evolved for the sole purpose of creating sympathy among folk not conversant with the true state of affairs.

Through the strike has been repeatedly referred to as a movement of metal workers, it is in reality the pickets that are out. A few competent iron workers struck, but of those who went out the full-fledged journeymen comprise only about 5 per cent.

Before the strike was called, the Blevins Iron Works employed forty men on outside work. This included all engaged in actual work on buildings. Some twenty men went out on strike, of whom just two were competent structural steel men. The others were either helpers of what are known as "mill-ins."

It is these men who are picketing the buildings now under construction and are trying to induce the free workers to leave their jobs. As they were recognized as full-fledged journeymen, they are not to be taken into the strike and steel works have not with this response.

Nearly all of the structural steel workers in the employ of the Blevins Iron Works have been with the company from two to eight years, and many of them own their own homes. They are far more interested in their jobs than they are in the welfare of the San Francisco walking delegates, and they have scant sympathy with the strikers.

Figures show that structural steel workers here are receiving more money in the course of a year than do men in the "organized" cities. In the East it is customary to pay men on outside work material runs out, if a man is idle for any half an hour he is sacked. Here the men are put on other work when material is short, and when work is slack the outside men are taken into the works.

As far as outside men are concerned, the iron works have about as much help as they had before the strike was called. On inside work, however, conditions are rapidly bettering themselves. "Were it not for the nagging of the pickets we should not think there was a strike in progress," said one employer yesterday.

Union-laborite agitators are assiduously circulating the report that men at work on buildings now in course of construction will "get their heads" if they do not join the strike. The plan is to get as many union men onto the jobs as possible and then, when the structures work is well advanced, to drop red-hot rivets on the heads of non-union men. This cowardly practice has been worked in times past, and the ruffians threaten to make use of it here.

The employers are ready for any such move, however, and no men will be endangered for jobs high in the air unless their antecedents are well known. Picketing is still going on, but the pickets are very lax in their methods. Men are allowed to go in and out of the iron works at any time, and the pickets are not allowed to make any further assaults. The head line is proving about the most unpopular experiment ever tried here and is doing its full share toward breaking the back of the strike.

SCHOLARSHIP.

There is a pleasant hour was spent at the contest. It was a tired and happy crowd that gathered at the contest in the evening, to part with regret at their journey's end, and with a final day to the contest, the tenth annual scholarship contest was brought to a triumphant close.

It has been a great success in more ways than one. The scoring was higher than ever before. The number of contestants was greater and their efforts were followed with keener interest and more loyal support by the public than any of its predecessors. The race throughout has been fair. It has been clean and it has been close; its outcome an admirable instance of the success that crowns endeavor. Lastly, it has been, if not spectacular, at least the best possible proof of the keen desire for self-improvement by the only real means to that end of those who are the keepers of the future of the Southland.

To Scholarship Contestants. The manager of the scholarship contest announces that she will be at the scholarship headquarters at 2 p. m. to day to confer with those contestants who desire to readjust their scholarships.

ATTORNEY'S SUDDEN CALL. Judge Baxter of this city died at his home and funeral will be held tomorrow.

Ex-Judge Edwin Baxter of this city died at his home, No. 3441 Bonoma avenue, yesterday morning, after an illness of but one night. The deceased was born in Moretown, Vt., March 9, 1831, and was a young man removed to Michigan with his parents. He was a student in Olivet College, taught school for a time, and then read and practiced law in Grand Rapids, Mich. He later removed to Grand Haven, Mich.

Mr. James alive? Not much. Why? Because if sealed letters are read, it shows that the reader has a sort of X-ray sight which can look through the covering of the letter and see what Mr. James did write before he died.

It might be said that some one could hear Mr. James speak the exact words which he wrote, which would prove that he did not die. It might be asked, as he is not now using his lungs, untried and mouth, how he could make a sound. Has he a new set of vocal organs? Again, how would we know it was Mr. James? Maybe some other unseen fellow was looking over his shoulder when he wrote the sealed letter. The reading of a sealed letter proves nothing.

Life is not an airy nothing; it is matter, form and motion, guided by knowledge. When wisdom shall stop death, there will be endless life, and not before.

J. W. HUMPHREYS.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES. (The Times freely publishes the views of correspondents without holding them responsible for their opinions. No letter, write plainly, and be brief. The letter must be on the one letter, and be sent to the Times, 1000 Broadway, New York, N. Y. No letter will be published unless it is accompanied by a return address.)

The James Test. LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—(To the Editor of the Times.) The late Mr. James has left a so-called test to prove that a man does not die when he leaves the body. The test is in the form of a sealed letter. The words of which were known to him. Now that he is dead he is to tell some one what the words were in the letter. Then the letter is to be opened. If the same one heard the words Mr. James said, then Mr. James is not dead. Let it be true that some one reads the sealed letter right, then what?
